PERFECT ARMS.

Society and Stage Boast Many Who Own
Beautiful Ones.

There are numerous women who are noted for their beautiful and graceful arms, which artists claim are the least common of all points of beauty.
Some of them are society women and some of them are stage queens. The "divine Sarah's" arms are almost as noted as her golden voice.

Emma Eames has more classically perfect arms than even most beautiful women. There are numerous other lesser lights both on the stage and in society who boast remarkable arms.

But unless these ladies find upon careful measurement that their arms are molded in the following proportions they may not claim to be classically correct. One celebrated statue of Venus shows these proportions:

	Inches.
Length of arm from shoulder to finger tips	28 7-20
Length of arm from shoulder to elbow	12 3-5
Length of arm from elbow to finger tips	15 3-4
Around upper arm	11 3-8
Around elbow	10 1-8
Around forearm	9 3-8
Around wrist	8 7-16

Diana, who should be the model for athletic women, has beautiful arms as she is represented by sculptors. In one statue the proportions are as follows:

	Inches.
Length of arm from shoulder to finger tips	29 7-10
Length of arm from shoulder to elbow	13 1-5
Length of arm from elbow to finger tips	16 1-2
Around upper arm	16 1-2
Around forearm	9 15-16
Around wrist	5 5-16

Sights and Sounds of Past Ages.

People are now familiar with the idea of storing up sound for future use so that a man's voice can be heard long after he is dead. It has been recently suggested that somewhere in the storehouse of nature the sight of all that has taken place is stored up, and that Moses got his account of the creation from a kind of kinetoscope which was disclosed to him as he stood in the cleft of the rock and saw the picture of the procession of events pass by. As Dr.
Johnson said, we have seen so much that we are prepared to believe more.
When people in New York City can hear the roar of Niagara, when machinery can be driven by a water-wheel 500 miles distant, when we can see through boards and take photographs of a soil man's bones and the money in his pocket, when we can talk with our friends a thousand miles away and recognize the tones of their voices, when we can warm the baby's milk at night by touching a button, we must be obstinate, indeed, if we refuse to believe anything. There is nothing in the "Arabian Nights" as marvelous as the things that might have been seen by anyone recently in New York. And yet, if we apply the logic of David Hume in his essays on the miracles to these things, we should refuse to believe that a photograph of a living man's skeleton may be taken. Hume refused to credit the miracles because they are contrary to all human experience, and nearly all the phenomena now on exhibition at the electrical show are contrary to human experience. It is a matter of curious speculation, have we reached the limit of knowledge of electricity, or are we upon the threshold of scientific revolutions? Will we in time discover that apartment of nature's storehouse where she keeps the sights and sounds of past ages?—Baltimore Sun.

TAMWORTH.

The election is over and the Conservative government is defeated and monopoly at an end and a revenue tariff will now be the order of the day. The polling day was all that could be looked for. It was a beautiful day and a large poll was taken, the returns are not all in yet but from what has come in Mr. Bell is elected for this riding.

Our roller mill owned by W. D. Mace, was very badly smashed last night. Mr. Mace had got in some Manitoba wheat, about 1000 bushels, which he had stored in three large bins on the second flat and the weight was too great for the building. The main beam gave way letting the wheat down to the ground floor doing a great deal of damage to the building and damaging a large lot of flour which was bagged up ready for market. The mill presented a wrecked state the next morning and had to shut down for a few days until the repairs are made. Part of the wheat went down to the basement and considerable will be lost. The loss will be considerable.

Mr. Wm. Fuller is having his store and warehouse painted. It was damaged last spring by the fire and needed a coat of paint. We hope others will follow this example and make and give a more cheerful look to our town.

Mr. Elliott, our pathmaster, is doing a good job in gravelling our road bed this year.

Since election we can find no P.P.A's. whatever is the reason.

Mary and Martha, two little sisters, had been promoted to the dignity of a big bed, where they slept together.

"I sleep on the front side," announced Mary, with an air of importance.

"And where do you sleep, Martha?" Inquired the visitor.

"I sleep where Mary doesn't," replied Martha, with a rueful glance at her restless little sister.

"Sam, I find you are an incorrigible story-teller. Did you ever in your life tell the truth?"

"Massa, de truth am a virtue, am it not?"

"Yes, Sam, it is; but I'm afraid you lack that virtue."

"No, sah, dat am not so. It am such a powerful good virtue, sah, an' I's got so much ob it, sah, dat I's am not goin' to let any of it escape so's I done waste any of it, sah."—Harpers' Round Table.

A Story of an Artist.

A story is told of a now famous American artist, who was seen, one day during his struggling days, in Paris, with his clothes in the last stage of dissolution, and his shoes tied up with twine. But there was a wild gleam in his eye. "I've got a hundred dollars!" he shouted to a friend across the street, quite oblivious of the crowd—"a hundred dollars, and I'm going to buy some shoestrings!"—Argonaut.

Not a Substitute.

American lovers of the weed who can "make rings" pride themselves on being "artistic smokers," but they are not to be compared with the Japanese juggler and their famous smoke tricks. Japanese artists in that line link rings together, make crosses and spoked wheels, and some are even said to be able to make a succession of readable letters.

Hard at Work Every Day

Paine's Celery Compound

Renewed His Life.

Farmer Smye says: "I am a Living Witness."

Mr. George J. Smye, farmer, of Sheffield, Ont., writes as follows:

"It is with great pleasure that I testify to the value of your great medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. For nearly two years I suffered from indigestion, kidney and liver troubles. After trying several medicines that did not effect a cure, I decided to try your Compound. Before using it I was so low in health that I could not eat or sleep. I could not lay in bed owing to pain in my back; it was only by resting on elbows and knees I was enabled to obtain a slight degree of ease. Before I had fully taken one bottle of your medicine I began to improve. I have now taken in all four teen bottles with grand results. I am a farmer and am now working every day. Anyone may refer to me in regard to these statements, or to any of my neighbors around Sheffield, where I am well known. I am a living witness to the worth of Paine's Celery Compound."

The proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound have on file thousands of such strong and convincing testimonials from the best people in Canada.

No other medicine in the world could have met the requirements of Mr. Smye, as Paine's Celery Compound did. Sufferings such as Mr. Smye endured are not con quered by the common sarsaparillas, nervines and pills that are presented to the public for all the ills of life. Mr. Smye had made a trial of the majority of these advertised remedies before he heard of Paine's Celery Compound, and they failed to cure him. The moral taught by Mr. Smye's experience, and the past testimony of thousands of other people is, that kidney and liver troubles and indigestion can only be cured effectually by Paine's Celery Compound.

The great medicine Paine's Celery Compound, is as far apart from the guesswork remedies advertised as black is from white. In the judgment of able physicians, the great medicine is the triumph of the century. They prescribe it for their patients, and carry it home to their own families.

Paine's Celery Compound is an able medical scientist's prescription; it is a preparation that combines all the most approved ingredients that are so necessary for the making of pure and healthy blood and strong nerves. It keeps up perfect digestive action and vigor, thereby giving continued good health and strength of body.

If you are convinced that your condition of health demands the use of Paine's Celery Compound, avoid substitutes and the "something just as good" that many dealers recommend for the sake of profit.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. PERSIA'S NEW SHAH.

PERSONALITY OF THE NOTABLE ORIENTAL SOON TO BE CROWNED.

Popular in the Province He Has Ruled Since Boyhood, Great Things are Predicted for Him in His Wider Sphere — A Notable Monarch.

Mozaffer-ed-Din-Shah, Persia's new ruler, is 46 years of age. Born at Teheran, he was sent in his tenth year to Tauris in charge of the Sardar Aziz Khan, who was then Governor-General of the Province of Azerbaidjan, which is an appanage of the royal princes of Persia. On attaining his majority Prince Mozaffer himself became Governor of this province, and by his many good qualities, and especially by his strong sense of justice, he soon became very popular, not only among his own subjects, but also throughout the entire country.

Mozaffer enjoys good health, and is very fond of bodily exercise. Like his father, he is a great hunter, and spends much of his time killing the tigers, panthers, leopards and bears which abound in the mountains of Tauris.

Though a true Oriental, Mozaffer has much of the western spirit of curiosity, and, though his father would never allow him to visit Europe, he has taken pains to make himself thoroughly acquainted with the leading factors of European civilization. Thus he is a good French scholar, an expert photographer, and a lover of modern music. At heart, however, he is a true namad, and likes nothing better than to spend whole days in the open country, lying in his tent of galloping after wild game. There are few better marksmen than he, as those who have seen him shoot with his Russian, Austrian and German guns can testify.

A firm believer in the faith of his fathers is Mozaffer. Some claim that he is more of a recluse than a statesman or ruler. He is certainly devout, and from the Persian point of view he leads a respectable life. He has only one wife, who is also his cousin, and there are not many women in his harem. He has had several children by his wife, but only two daughters are living. By his concubines he has three sons, who are now respectively 20, 14 and 9 years of age. By the advice of M. Bernay, who was for a long time French Consul at Tauris, and who enjoyed Mozaffer's confidence, the education of these young princes has been entrusted to a French teacher, and, as a result, they speak French very well and have acquired other European accomplishments. A French governess has also been placed in charge of Mozaffer's young daughters.

The new Shah's personal appearance is striking. He dresses, as a rule, very plainly, and wears no insignia of rank. He is well built, his features are regular, his eyes are large and more brown than black, his eyebrows are very heavy and his mouth is mobile and half concealed by a long black mustache. His face generally wears a kindly expression and always impresses one with its calmness and imperturbability.

"Should I die while I am in a position to pay my insurance premiums, my family will owe their support to Scott's Sarsaparilla. Two years ago I applied to two companies for insurance, $1000 in each. My face was a mass of pimply blotches and my urine did not stand the test. One doctor in examining me said I could not pass, but that my trouble was curable. He advised an alternative medicine, and I commenced taking Scott's Sarsaparilla. Both companies rejected me, but four months later, after I had taken five bottles of your remedy I am thankful to say both accepted me as a risk—one being a stock company, the other a mutual. The examiner who previously examined me, remarked 'I never saw such a change in any man.' This is indorsed by Mr. J. Todd, the popular druggist, corner Queen and Crawford Streets, Toronto.

Scott's Sarsaparilla builds up debilitated constitutions, imparts strength, vigor and vitality, clears and purifies the blood. It cures skin diseases, rheumatism, gout, indigestion and all complaints arising from poor or poisoned blood. Of all druggists, $1 per bottle.

FARM HORSES.

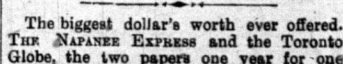

Judicious Rationing Which Will Increase Their Effectiveness.

The effectiveness of working horses on farms is often impaired by injudicious feeding. Overloading the stomach with innutritious food is a common error and is mainly due to the average farmer's dependence on hay as the staple and cheapest food for horses. Really, so far as effectiveness goes, grains, and especially oats, are always cheaper than hay. Livemen and those who keep horses soon discover this fact. Farm work differs from that on the road in not requiring so rapid motion. Farm horses can, therefore, be fed more hay, but enough grain or meal should go with it so that the proper amount of nutrition can be secured without too great distention of the digestive organs.

The farmer will find his most effective ration in ground oats, mixed with cut clover or timothy hay, and fed slightly wet so that the meal and wet hay will adhere. The best proportion is half weight each of the hay and meal. This will of course make the hay more bulky. The ration for a 1200 pound horse will usually be about 16 pounds of oatmeal per day and the same weight of cut hay, divided into three messes morning, noon and night. On such a ration as this horses will keep at work and in good condition indefinitely. The feed at night and morning should be slightly larger than at the noon meal. Three meals per day, with long intervals between them to allow the food to digest, are better than continuous eating, even when grain is given.

Timothy hay is much less nutritious than clover. It is also less liked by horses, which should be stunted in their feed of clover, so that they will not get too much. Usually clover hay should only be fed cut and wet and mixed with meal. This wetting the clover will keep the dust in it from injuring horses that are broken winded from hard driving when their stomachs are over loaded. Bran and wheat middlings abound in the nutrition for furnishing strength. But it is very rare that bran can be fed with advantage to a horse that is working hard. It will sour his stomach, and that is always weakening. But fine middlings have a contrary effect and can be mixed with ground oats, and so fed with the cut hay. A horse at work should be neither constipated nor very loose in his bowels. If the excrement is at any time hard and dry a very little linseed meal will remedy the difficulty. It cannot, however, be given in large quantities, as it is very concentrated food.

When wheat middlings are fed to horses without other grain, they should be mixed with a larger amount of cut hay so as not to become compact in the stomach. It will generally pay to make extra pains to have ground oats mixed with the cut feed, and give this

OUR MAIL.

Our mail brings us every day dozens of letters about Burdock Blood Bitters. Some from merchants who want to buy it, some from people who want to know about it, and more from people who do know about it because they have tried it and been cured. One of them was from Mr. J. Gillan, B.A., 39 Gould Street, Toronto. Read how he writes:

GENTLEMEN,—During the winter of 1892 my blood became impure on account of the hearty food I ate in the cold weather. Ambition, energy and success forsook me, and all my efforts were in vain. My skin became yellow, my bowels became inactive, my liver was lumpy and hard, my eyes became inflamed, my appetite was gone, and the days and nights passed in unhappiness and restlessness.

For some months I tried doctors' and patent medicines of every description, but received no benefit. Being advised by a friend to try B.B.B., I am glad to have the opportunity of testifying to the marvellous result. After using three bottles I felt much better, and when the fifth bottle was finished I enjoyed health in the greatest degree, and have done so from that day up to date. Therefore I have much pleasure in recommending B. B. B. to all poor suffering humanity who suffer from impure blood, which is the beginning and seat of all diseases.

Uses for Rhubarb.

Every housewife who is fond of either rhubarb or oranges should make a few pots of the delicious jam that combines them both. Wipe the rhubarb until clean and dry, and cut it into fine pieces without peeling; peel half a dozen oranges, cut away all the white under the skin, take out the seeds and divide the oranges into quarters. Open each carpel that holds the pulp, and take that out, being careful to save all the juice. Put the rhubarb, orange pulp and juice with a pound and a half of granulated sugar, stir until the sugar is melted, then cook slowly until a fine mass. When it begins to thicken cool a little in a saucer. Put away in tumblers, and cover with waxed or oiled paper. A very good jam of the rhubarb is also made without the oranges. Use one pound of sugar to each pound of the fruit, and flavor each pound with the grated rind of half a large lemon. Stir and skim frequently while cooking.

An appetizing dessert is made from rhubarb by cooking it with gelatine. Weigh a pound of rhubarb, wash it and cut it into very small pieces. Sweeten while cooking with eight ounces of sugar. When the rhubarb is tender, stir into it one-fourth of a cupful of cold water. Whip the mixture well with an eggbeater and turn into a mold. When cold serve with a yellow custard sauce or without one, as you prefer.

BICYCLE BOAT FOR TWO.

A Novel Craft That Promises to Catch On Quickly.

A novel craft that is attracting considerable attention in the waters about Bad Ridge and in the upper bay is a "bicycle boat," designed and owned by Herman B. Ogden, and built by the Crosby Cape Cat Company, at their shops, foot of Fifty-sixth street, Brooklyn, says the New York Journal.

Her motive power is similar to a tandem bicycle resting upon two oak braces. The frame is of copper, and steel bars rise out from it for both saddles and handle bars. Sprocket wheels and pedals identical with those of a bicycle are affixed and connected in the usual manner with a chain.

Revolving alongside the rear wheel is a cog fourteen inches in diameter, which in turn fits into a smaller one on the shaft that turns the propeller, which is a three-bladed screw of gun metal, nearly fifteen inches across. Owing to the high gearing it revolves six times for each turn of the pedal crank.

BICYCLE BOAT FOR TWO

A trial of Wednesday afternoon after her machinery was in place was most satisfactory. Mr. Crosby and one of his workmen were in the saddles and propelled the strange craft at a high rate of speed. Her steering gear is operated by chains from the handle bar in the forward end of the cockpit, the chains extending aft to a yoke on the rudder head. The peculiar construction of her bow enables her to turn completely in a twelve-foot radius.

SKIN DISEASES!

One Remedy Which has Never Failed—Tried and Tested Ointment.

Because other alleged remedies for piles, scrofula, eczematous eruptions, scald head, chafing, black heads, salt rheum and skin diseases generally have proved useless, don't condemn Dr. Chase's Ointment. It has never been known to fail. For instance, Nelson Simmons, Meyersburg, Ont., writes:

"I used Dr. Chase's Ointment for itching Piles, and can recommend it highly. Since using it I have had perfect freedom from the disease."

Peter Vanallen, L'Amable, Que., had the eczema for three years. He tried three doctors, but received no benefit. One box of Dr. Chase's Ointment and three boxes of Dr. Chase's Pills cured him completely. Large scales covered his legs and body, but the Ointment soon removed them. He will swear to these facts.

Items of Interest to all Lovers of the Circling Wheel.

Here's a suggestion, and it's right from the shoulder. It's fresh. Laws should be passed, which would compel the makers of bicycles to furnish to the buyer a list of just what there is in the wheel he is asked to buy. The buyer should be protected and have some assurance that he is getting what he is paying for, the proper material. If that were done there would be fewer accidents and the high grade wheels would be scarcer. It is far more necessary that we should have such laws than that we should have a law which simply requires a dealer to label oleomargarine.

"A good many people," says the Sage of Lanniganville, "are like bicycles. They roll along through life with an exceedingly proud manner until the tire is punctured, and then we find that they were mostly built on air."—Philadelphia North American.

A Portland (Ore.) man has applied the bicycle motive to a new screw propeller, on which unique machine he claims to be able to travel eighteen miles an hour. The contrivance literally screws itself through the water, the entire floatable body turning with the sprocket and chain mechanism. Metal arms extend beneath the water on each end, which enable the operator to remain in a perpendicular position.

"Well why didn't the makers put their name plate on it so we wouldn't have all of this bother?" asked a girl in a sweater.

"Because she wouldn't have it, or at least she had her own name plate made to cover theirs, which is rather small. She says that she thinks it is a shame for the manufacturers to advertise on the wheels that they sell, and that she would just as soon go round with a big button on her gown saying 'This dress was made by Madame So and So,' or 'This hat came from John Smith's.'"—New York Sun.

Mrs. Johnson—Whad yo' want ob a bicycle?

Sammy Johnson—I wants toe scorch—same ez white folks.

THE CONSTANT LOVER

'Tis five-and-twenty years ago,
My Julia, since my first passion
Declared itself—I strung your bow,
For archery was then the fashion.

And every time you hit the bull (Which, to say truth, was none too often),
I felt my brimming heart was full,
And wondered when your own would soften.

Years passed, and we to croquet turned,
And still on my uneasy pallet
I tossed, while all my fancy burned,
With dreams of hoop, and cage, and mallet.

Lawn tennis next our thoughts engaged,
Ah! When I heard your sweet voice saying,
"Love all," my hopeful heart, presaged
Some good might come from all our playing.

And now we drove the milk-white ball
From sandy tee to sandier bunker,
I could not see the fun at all,
But you were keen as any younger.

Last—but I have some proper pride—
And now you're colder than an icicle
Because I said I would not ride
With you upon a tandem bicycle.

—Pall Mall Gazette.

science

Science is "knowing how."
The only secret about Scott's Emulsion is years of science. When made in large quantities and by improving methods, an emulsion must be more perfect than when made in the old-time way with mortar and pestle a few ounces at a time. This is why Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil never separates, keeps sweet for years, and why every spoonful is equal to every other spoonful. An even product throughout.
In other emulsions you are liable to get an uneven benefit—either an over or under dose. Get Scott's. Genuine has a salmon-colored wrapper.

STYLES IN CARPETINGS.

Some Such as Predominate in the Better Grades.

It cannot be said that, in the carpets made for the coming spring, we have got entirely away from the reproduction of Oriental ideas, or from the latter revival of the fancies of the renaissance.
The regal Savonnerie, the Aubusson and the moquette of French manufacture, the Scotch Axminster and our own best Wiltons are still dependent for design to a great extent, upon the scrolls and tangles and other charming conceits of renaissance fancy.
There is no doubt that floriated are the dominating fancy in designs for carpetings, rather than Oriental traceries. But these floriated are not after the ancient idea, when great parti-colored bouquets gave character to a Wilton or a velvet, as they did to a printed tapestry carpet. Parti-

How the Day Was Won.
"Sire," quoth the chief of staff, "the Amazons are assembling on the right wing and evidently intend to turn our left with a vigorous charge."
"Do you mean the Amazonian wheel corps?"
"Yes, sire; and they are a gallant sight. Their wheels have all been re-nickled and they have donned their new ashes of roses bloomers for the first time. What shall we do to avert the danger?"
"Order out the royal sprinkling carts."
"Yes, sire."
"Let them make the battle ground in front of our left wing as muddy as possible."
"Yes, sire."
"Just as soon as the charging Amazons in their new silk bloomers strike that mud they will whirl about and ride back as fast as they can pedal."
"For what, sire?"
"For their mud guards, stupid. Then if we advance rapidly enough to surprise them before they can get their helmets on straight, the day is ours."
And it was even so.--Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Might Have Been Worse.

The Most Economical ...House Warmer

The "Kelsey" Corrugated Warm Air Generator.

Any ordinary Hot Air Furnace will produce heat if you will only supply enough fuel. The "Kelsey" has several special and valuable features but most important is that it will give more heat with less fuel and is the most durable heater made.

The "Kelsey" fire pot being constructed of several upright, tubular, corrugated cast iron sections (see cut) around which the fire passes and up through which the cold air passes while being heated, and this entire section being wrapped with a heavy steel casing which becomes heated by the fire striking it when passing down outside of upright sections towards smoke pipe, it in turn warms the air that passes up between this steel casing and the galvanized iron casing, this explains why the "Kelsey" has three times more radiating surface and warm air capacity than an ordinary Furnace. The "Kelsey" heats every room evenly, wherever located, with a nice, mild, healthful "warm air" that will not injure your furniture.

The "Kelsey" will heat rooms 60 feet distant.

The "Kelsey" does not heat your cellar. The "Kelsey" is absolutely gas and dust proof.

an occasional piece.
Carpets in grounds of delicate neutral tints, which have found favor for the last several years, especially if of the Savonnerie, Aubusson and Axminster manufactures, will hold their own for fine drawing rooms and other rooms for ceremonious use, but the trend of favor for carpets, taken collectively, is in the direction of grounds in medium and deep tones of strong colors. The blues in carpets have been brought out in the indigo, marine, navy and electric tints, and in the greyish stone blue. The reds appear in the strong Pompeian, the dark Venetian and Indian tints, with the Turkey red and vieux rouge. Terra cotta will be continued a while longer as a ground color in carpets, but there are evidences of its declining popularity, mahogany color and other browns superseding it in general favor. Carpets in grounds of the fashionable soft dark olive and moss greens, indigo and marine blues and Venetian or Indian reds, scattered over with sprays of pink or yellow roses, with a border in festoons of roses, or a dense garland of great roses, are striking and novel in effect, but they are handsome and attractive.

PINK PIQUE. BOY'S HOMESPUN.

Varying the carpets of flowered design, carpets of plain color finished with a border of floriated design are in vogue, an distill later are borders striped in three tones of self color; but the carpets of plain color readily showing footprints and other infirmities and being more liable to defacement than carpets of figured grounds, clouded and water grounds have been evolved, a floriated border being the finish.

A very rich royal Wilton shown in a collection to be brought out in the spring is of Venetian red, scattered over with sprays of roses in clear, delicate pink, festoons of roses giving character to the border. A Wilton in marine blue, of plain grounding, has a dense garland of hollyhocks of greatly magnified size and several colors in the border. A very remarkable carpet in the green of a lightly shaded rippling stream of watered grounding, has the border in a design of dense garland of the white water-lily laid on a growth of the cat-tail. Very attractive carpets of the Wilton weave are of plain groundings in jade, green, electric blue and a medium pale tone of vieux rouge, with floriated borders--paper tones being more agreeable than the deeper tones of color in the plain carpets. And very available, useful and desirable carpets in the new strong colors have designs in tangles, leaves, small blossoms and arabesque traceries brought out in a distinctly paler tone of the ground color, or two or three different tones of the self color.

Much favor attaches to the carpets for bedrooms and nurseries in the blue-and-white of the old Delft, the Owari and the Imari of Japanese porcelains and blue Dresden china.--Decorative.

There is a Difference.
"What, you afraid of that little woman?" asked the officer, in amazement.
"Yes," said Henpeck, as he mopped his feverish brow, "and you would be afraid of her, too, if the marriage certificate with which she is armed had your name on it instead of mine."--Washington Times.

Without Wheels.
Mrs. De Wolf--Have you ever observed what a fine carriage Mrs. Smiley has--such a fine gal?
Miss Smiley--Yes, and I have noticed it's a horseless carriage, too.

Scrofula

Infests the blood of humanity. It appears in varied forms, but is forced to yield to Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and vitalizes the blood and cures all such diseases. Read this: "In September, 1894, I made a misstep and injured my ankle. Very soon afterwards.

A Sore

two inches across formed and in walking to favor it I sprained my ankle. The sore became worse; I could not put my boot on and I thought I should have to give up at every step. I could not get any relief and had to stop work. I read of a cure of a similar case by Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it. Before I had taken all of two bottles the sore had healed and the swelling had gone down. My is now well and I have been greatly benefited otherwise. I have increased in weight and am in better health. I cannot say enough in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. T. BLAKE, So. Berwick, Me.

IN CASE OF DROUGHT.

How to Obtain and Retain Moisture in the Hot, Dry Weather.

If we put the end of a small glass tube into water, the water will rise in it. If, instead of being put in water, a tube is put into a very heavy liquid, such as mercury, instead of rising above the surrounding liquid it will not rise up in the tube to its level, (see Fig. I. and II.). The finer these tubes are the higher the water will rise, while the opposite will be the result in the case of the mercury. That which causes the water to rise is called capillary attraction. That which prevents the mercury from rising is called capillary repulsion.

Before going any further it might be interesting to some to explain the meaning of capillary. Capillus means hair. Capillary means resembling a hair; fine, minute, small in diameter, though long. Thus a capillary tube means a tube that is hair-like.

A glass tube has been taken for purposes of illustration, but you must not think that such a tube is necessary before water will rise. A sponge soaks up water; that is, water rises through and fills the minute spaces which exist in the structure of the sponge. Those People often think of the moisture in the soil as altogether due to the rainfall; and as they cannot control this, they have thought that they could not guard against loss by drought; but by understanding capillary attraction and how to avail ourselves of its aid, we will be able, in many cases, to greatly lessen the evils which result from a lack of rain.—E. From The Toronto Globe Sept. 5th.

Odoroma is the name of the latest thing for the teeth, introduced into Canada by the Aroma Chemical Co. It seems to be meeting with the appreciation of the elite of Toronto at any rate, owing, no doubt, to it having been endorsed by well-known professional experts as much as to recommendation from one to another. That it is a good thing is beyond question, that it will rapidly become popular is equally certain.

The Craze.

The bibycle craze seems to be at its height and it is very dangerous for pedestrians to cross any of the principal thoroughfares without being run into by a cycle, as none carry bells. Much more dangerous is it to the eyes to go about not wearing glasses when needed, or those fitted by incompetent men. A. f. ohinneck, graduate optician, is prepared to guarantee a fit to any eye which needs help, or place the patient in a position to obtain eminent medical advice.

An Afflicted Household.

Our sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. George Richards, Piety Hill, in the death of their daughter, Esther, who passed away on Tuesday, aged six years and four months. Esther was an exceedingly bright and amiable child and her sudden demise is a heavy blow to her parents. Diptheria was the cause of her death and we regret to say that their son, Philip George, is also very ill with this dread disease although good hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Wedding Bells at Yarker.

A very quiet wedding took place at Yarker on Monday of last week, when Mr. Arthur W. Cooper, of Quebec, (and formerly with the Rathbun Co., of Deseronto,) was united in marriage to Miss Mary Alice McDonald, (nee Mattie) daughter of Mr. George McDonald. The ceremony was performed at St. Anthony's church, Centreville, by Rev. E. F. Cooper, C.S.S.R., of Detroit, brother of the groom. The bride was attired in a cream serge and looked very pretty, being assisted by Miss Mollie Lahey, of Sydenham. The groom was assisted by Wm. J. Carroll. Owing to the death of a near relative there were only the families and Rev. Father Hartigan present.

Foresters Demonstration.

The demonstration at Foresters' Island on Friday of last week was a decided success, and the crowd in attendance appeared to enjoy themselves immensely. Napanee was well represented, and a large number of excursionists from outside places swelled the number present to about three thousands. The yacht race was won by "The Dauntless," of Napanee, beating "The Hustler," of Deseronto, by over 12 minutes. "The Orpha," of Napanee, took third. "The Madge," of Napanee, also started in the race, but owing to an accident did not

The Tupper Government was routed on Tuesday, horse, foot and artillery. The people rose in their might and condemned the boodling and maladministration that has so long characterized the regime of the Conservative Government. The Frenchmen of Quebec put Ontario to shame and set at defiance the dictation of the Hierarchy, showing that they put the welfare of the country paramount to the needs of the church. The landlatch that struck the Government was complete and well deserved. All honest Conservatives, who put country before party, are pleased at the result, although their pleasure is somewhat tinged with sadness by the gross mismanagement that brought such a strong condemnation. The Government was corrupt, moribund and vacillating. Under their management the country was rapidly drifting towards bankruptcy and there was apparently not one man in the whole cabinet able to avert the threatened disaster or suggest a remedy for the betterment of our conditions or apply it if devised. The coercion policy of the Government was a wicked attempt to float into power on a wave of sectarian hate and racial prejudices and met the fate it deserved. Had Sir Charles Tupper been returned to power, under his manipulation the school question would undoubtedly have disintegrated confederation. Mr. Laurier will adjust it to the satisfaction of both parties concerned. There will be no Remedial Legislation, but a comprehensive investigation into the educational affairs of the Province of Manitoba will be instituted; the defects remedied and by a few mutual concessions the Manitoba School question will be settled once and for all, and in a manner satisfactorily alike to the majority and the minority of Manitoba, who are, or ought to be, the only parties concerned. The rout of the Government was complete. The three Quebec ministers, chosen more on account of their zeal for the church than their fitness for the positions, were badly defeated. Mr. Dickie, another minister was also defeated, and Speaker White shared a like fate. The Liberals will have a majority of 28 over all in the next House and the total majority against the Government is 52. The standing of the parties is as follows:

Election day passed off very quietly in Napanee. There was little or no excitement until between eight and nine o'clock when the returns from outside started to come in. A joint committee had arranged to have the returns from the two telegraph offices announced from the balcony on the town hall, and by half-past eight the market square was jammed with a sea of humanity all anxious to ascertain the result of the fray. Kingston was the first place heard from and when Britton's grand victory in the Limestone City was announced the crowd went wild with enthusiasm. The cheering intelligence from Quebec put the crowd in immense good humor, and every Liberal gain was greeted with deafening cheers. About 8:30 Mr. Charles Stevens appeared on the balcony and addressed the crowd. He said there had been enough boodles spent by the Wilson party to upset five elections and if his friends would stand by him and the grits would guarantee not to put a man in the field he would protest the election. He believed that in a straight fight he could defeat Mr. Wilson. He had fought a clean fight, and even his political enemies, (he didn't believe he had any personal enemies) gave him credit for being a plucky little fellow and making a good fight. Mr. Stevens said the Wilson party had spent over $3,000 in bribing the electorate, and he had spent $73 on Monday night in livery hire tracking the boodlers. Mr. Wilson won by bribery and corruption, (cheers.) Mr. Wilson made a short speech which was well received. He had no knowledge of the bribery which his honorable friend charged him with. He was proud of his native town which had given him such a handsome majority. He hoped that now the election was over they would all bury their differences and dwell in peace and harmony for the next five years. (cheers.) Mr. Switzer made a neat little speech. He said he was defeated by the votes of those who were expected to stand by him. He was not disheartened or discouraged by the result. He had no personal feelings against either of the candidates. Between himself and Mr. Wilson the best of good feeling prevailed throughout. He laid his defeat to the farmer, and thanked the town for the good vote they had given him. (cheers.) Mr. Stevens created a good deal of excitement a few minutes afterwards by throwing about two or three hundred of his campaign buttons among the boys for them to scramble for. The Conservatives went home early and left the Reformers in possession of the town hall. Meanwhile the boys got up a procession and "Whooper'd-her-up" for Laurier in good shape. They went up and down the streets until a late hour singing "Good-by Tupper We are going to leave you now." The band turned out also, and with the cheering of enthusiasts and the noise of fire crackers things were pretty lively for a time. One of the boarders of the Paisley House secured a piece of factory cotton and painted upon it the words, "Canada for Laurier." This he stretched across the window of his room and put a lamp behind it. When the crowd on the market perceived it they yelled themselves hoarse. The crowd was on the whole a good natured one, but the majority of the Grits could hardly restrain from standing on their heads, they felt so elated. A large

The Local Paper.

An expatriated Canadian forwards the following from California:

It's not the biggest paper
That I pounce upon the first;
Nor the one that has most in it;
That I want to see the worst;
But the little country paper
From the place I used to live
Is the most delightful reading
That a fellow can conceive.

You read the locals over
With an eagerness and zest;
It's like shaking hands with people
That you like the heartiest;
And though there's little in them
Still each name is like a face,
And the past beams down upon you
As the sprawling lines you trace.

You see the home of childhood
And the little country store,
And the face of your old sweetheart
In the vine-bordered door,
And the old school and your playmates
Mingle with the locals read,
Notwithstanding some are married,
Notwithstanding some are dead.

There's the forest long departed,
And the little swimming hole,
And the past crowds in upon you,
Filling mind and eyes and soul;
And the little country paper
From the cradle and distant press,
With its freight of homely items,
Softens life like a caress.

"Tupper Must Go."
Mr. E. Huff is one of the "old timers." A short time ago he got thinking that it would soon be time for the frogs in the pond adjacent to his residence to open the serenade season. Before they opened their chorus he prophesied as follows:

"The frogs will wake and sing pretty soon
For the elections come off sometime in June They'll get up on a log all in a row
And the song they will sing is "Tupper must go."

On Saturday (the 20th inst) the frogs commenced operations. The high muck-a-quack or king frog of the bog sang the following solo, as interpreted by Mr. Huff, the subject joining in the chorus:—

"I have a good army,
I'm king of the bog,
Away with Old Tupper
He is an old hog."

CHORUS.
Tupper must go,
Tupper must go,
All join in the chorus,
Tupper must go.

You can tell by his actions
You know by his speech,
He's a regular old humbug,
A terrible old leech.

Away to your barracks,
And do as you please,
Give Tupper a broadside,
And then stand at ease."

For Tupper must go,
Tupper must go.

One significant feature is the poor showing of the third party men. The third party men hurt the Liberal party considerably and had they refrained from dividing the vote in so many constituencies the result in Ontario would have been still more disastrous for the ministerialists. Altogether the country has just reason to feel thankful at the result, which will, we trust, usher in a brighter and better era in this Canada of ours.

CONTEST IN LENNOX.

Although we hoped for better things it cannot be said that the unexpected has happened in Lennox. With two candidates in the field opposed to the Government and dividing the Liberal and Independent vote it is a matter for congratulation that Mr. Switzer polled so good a vote. In a straight fight we believe Mr. Wilson would have been defeated. As it is he owes his election to Mr. Stevens' presence in the field. The Liberals did all in their power to avoid a three cornered fight, Mr. Allison retiring in favor of Mr. Switzer, but Mr. Stevens thought fit to enter the field and the most natural thing under the circumstance happened. Another thing that militated against Mr. Switzer was the bad state of the lists. Mr. Wilson had everything his own way in the revision and as a matter of course manipulated them to his own advantage. In connection with this revision somebody is guilty of gross dishonesty. Many an honest voter whose name was put on the list by the revising judge was knocked off in the Government printing office at Ottawa. One good Grit and his son, who own 300 acres of land, were disfranchised, while the hired man, an uncompromising Tory, had his name on the list and of course put in a plumper for Tupperism. The vote in Lennox this year was a light one compared with the last election. In 1892 when Mr. Wilson defeated Mr. Allison the vote stood 1875 and 1650 respectively, making a total of 3,525, while this year the total vote polled for the three candidates amounted to 2911, 414 less than was polled in '92. It is alleged that bribery and personation helped to swell Mr. Wilson's majority, but later developments will prove the truth or falsity of this. Mr. Switzer made a clean, manly, honest fight and has no reason to feel ashamed of the result. As it is the good old county of Lennox showed itself adverse to Tupperism by a big majority.

THE ELECTION OF 1891.

At the general elections in March 1891, D. W. Allison beat Uriah Wilson by a majority of 57. He was unseated and in the by-election, on Feb. 4th, 1892, the vote stood as follows:

along the B. of Q. and joined in the fun. About 11 o'clock the crowd congregated in the town hall and Mr. S. C. Warner read out the returns as they were received. Mr. Geo. D. Hawley was called upon for a speech, and responded gracefully and ably. At the meeting the Liberals who are taking the Montreal Star agreed to stop taking such a sheet immediately.

The election returns will be found on another page.

We wonder if Sir Charles Tupper will claim the credit of his own defeat.

Thank Heaven we have about seen the last of the Dominion Franchise Act.

It is stated on good authority that the election of Uriah Wilson will be protested.

Charles Stevens put up a plucky fight and came within 479 votes of being elected.

Loads of money and personators were a more potent factor in carrying Winnipeg than Hugh John's nose.

H. M. Deroche, Q.C., says: The honest expression of the good old County of Lennox is 500 hundred of a majority against the Tupper Government.

N. Clarke Wallace received the largest majority ever polled for a candidate in Canada. He was elected over his two opponents by a majority of 3,425.

The Conservatives in town, as a rule, seem well pleased with the defeat of the Government. The general opinion is that they have been in power too long.

T. G. Davis: "That's right boys, jump in and enjoy yourselves, it's the first opportunity you Grits have had in eighteen years. For my own part I'm almost inclined to rejoice with you."

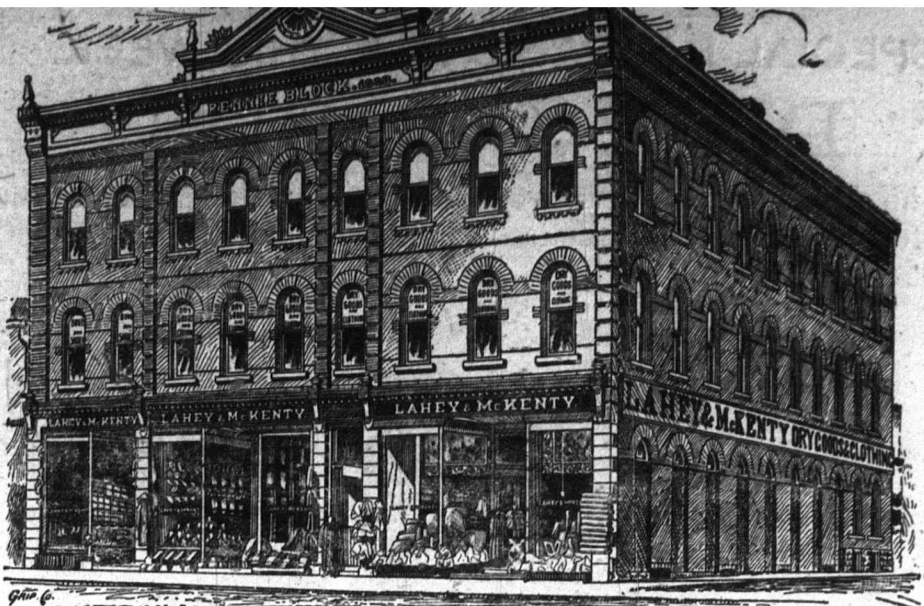

Uriah Wilson, M. P.: While I regret to see the Government, including a number of my old friends defeated I cannot say that I am surprised or sorry at the result. Looking at it from an anti-remedialist standpoint the result in Quebec is gratifying. The power of the Bishops is broken. Laurier will have a number of difficult questions to settle, among others the disquieting School Question and Prohibition. In the meantime on the opposition benches I will have an opportunity of airing a number of little hobbies of my own which as a Government supporter I would be in a measure precluded from bringing up.

Our joy is not unmixed with sorrow. In Addition one of the brightest and ablest men that ever represented her in the Dominion Parliament has fallen by the wayside. In point of ability Mr. Dawson stands head and shoulders above J. W. Bell and in Parliament did honor to the Riding he so ably represented. No doubt Mr. Bell is a nice man but in Parliament he never rose above the dignity of a back bencher.

Over a year ago Henry Black, of Northport, sold a horse to Mr. Reid, of Enterprise. Last week the animal got a longing to see its old home. It must have proved irresistible for the horse started out, swam across the ferry at the Indian Reserve and turned up at its old place of residence in Northport shortly afterwards. It is about thirty-four miles between Enterprise and Northport.

A Sure and Simple Protection from Cold.

Good meals and warm clothing are of more value—if you haven't got them—than anything else. World wide fame seems of small account if you are hungry or the wind is whistling through your body. So any new feature which makes comfortable clothing possible for every one is of more real importance to us than the discovery of a new planet. This explains the great popularity of Fibre Chamols, an interlining made from pure spruce fibre, which gives a perfect healthful warmth without adding weight or bulk. The reason is that it is an absolute non-conductor of either heat or cold. The rawest winds can't get through the clothing lined with it, nor will it let the natural heat of the body escape. So that it ensures comfort in all weather, for a trifling expense.

A DAY OF DAYS.

Within the calendar of life
Of every human heart,
There shimmers a day with beauty rife,
That stands alone, apart—
Distinct from other times and tides,
The sorrowful or gay,
With Memory it ever abides.
A recaptured, perfect day
No matter if fast fades the gold
Of other morris to gray,
And angel hands may not have rolled
The stone of grief away—
Bright shining through life's fond regret,
Through cloud and fearful haze,
Love's golden sun has never set Upon that day of days.

SOME GOOD 'UNS.

A Budget of Lately Recorded Wit From Harper's Round Table.

Pat was an Irishman, and he was trying to ride a bicycle. "The pesky wheel," as he put it, "wouldn't stay straight, but wriggled this way and that, every now and then landing him in a heap on the road. A number of people gathered around to see the fun. At last, however, he got started fairly well, and was moving along smoothly, when the wheel gave a lurch, and in attempting to recover himself he made a desperate lunge, and over he went, hitting the curb stone in his downfall. A policeman ran up, and after straightening him out, demanded that he give an account of himself. "Faith," said Pat, "I'd loik to see any man give an account when he has once lost his balance."

There had been a lack of men joining the ranks, and the colonel was visiting a recruiting station, inspecting the workings of his recruiting sergeant. Suddenly a terrific noise of shouting and shuffling of feet came through the open window. Now it came from the stairway, intermingled with sundry loud bumps and knocks, and the door burst open, showing a red-faced, perspiring little sergeant pushing, hauling and tugging at a big country lad. The latter was doing his best to escape the firm grip of the soldier.

"Halt!" cried the Colonel. "How is this, sir?" he said to the sergeant. "Is this the way you secure recruits—by force, sir?"

The red-faced sergeant looked up and down, then at the colonel, and blurted out: "Sure, sir, the only way to get them volunteers is by force, sir."

It was a battered war-scarred veteran that ambled into the pension office one day last week, and slowly approaching the clerk of the office, asked in a quivering voice, where he could get a pension.

"In what company did you serve," asked the clerk.

"Company G, of the Sixth Volunteers."

"Ever injured in battle?"

The veteran drew himself up to his full height, which was distressingly little, and exclaimed, in as loud a voice as he could muster.

"Yes, sir; I was hit by a shell in the battle of Bull Run, and knocked all to pieces."

"Dear me!" said the clerk, smiling. "You're a wonderful veteran. Where do you lie, and how do you manage to keep alive your many pieces?"

"That's the trouble, sir, and the very reason I want a pension, 'cause I've had trouble ever since taking up my quarters wherever I could find them."

Ab, she was wondrous fair!
Then up to her dainty room she went,
Her heart o'erflowing with sentiment
And breathed for him a prayer.

And he walked slowly down the street
With his lips still warm from kisses sweet
Through the moonlight soft and clear;
In his mind still lingered her beautiful face
As he gaily turned into Conger's place
And loaded himself with beer.

A YEAR'S SUNSHINE.

Will Not Fade Garments Dyed With Diamond Dyes.

No other method of home dyeing gives colors one-half so fast and beautiful as Diamond Dyes. The colors are full, rich, bright and handsome, and so fast and firm that a year's sunshine will not cause them to fade.

It is not so when the garments and goods are dyed with the poor imitation dyes that many dealers sell for the sake of large profits.

Goods colored with the crude dyes soon fade, and become dingy and ugly. It should be borne in mind, that the common dyes cost the same price as the tested and popular Diamond Dyes, but cannot for a moment be compared with them.

If you would save money and time, put your trust at all times in the never-fading Diamond Dyes; the user is never disappointed. Refuse inferior dyes offered by dealers, and insist upon having the "Diamond."
